nor is asked by them to at least veto the emergency clause, so that the law cannot be applied to the coming city primaries in Omaha. The feature they object to in the bill is that which requies the voter, when challenged, to swear that he has "generally" voted for the party which is holding the primaries. Republicans who support their party ticket fail to see where such a requirement in the law would injury anyone except political shysters.

The movement in the House to immediately take up and consider the appropriation bills is one of much importance to the state, as it insures careful consideration of these measures before the rush of the closing days comes. It is a new and much needed change in methods in Nebraska legislative practice, and Republican. will be watched with much interest. Heretofore the practice has been to take up private bills, and "logrolling" schemes first, shoving off the appropriation bills until the last, to the utter demoralization of business during the last few days. The old plan was one much taken advantage of by those who had doubtful claims further, or who were looking for large grabs from the treasury for favored localities. This year with the appropriation bills out of the way in good time the opportunities for "grabbing" will be limited.

It is noticeable this season that pportunities in the South

No portion of the United States has made greater progress in the last year or two than the South. Northern and foreign capital is rapidly invading that section, finding profitable investment in the various industries and factories that are being rapidly de-veloped and built. The great influx of settlers is creating an increased demand for lands of all kinds and prices are gradually advancing, as they will for years to come. Work is plentiful and poverty practically unknown. Alabama is supplying coal and iron to all the world. More money can be made and with less labor in the raising of small truits and berries and in truck patching on the Gulf Coast than in any other state in the Union. Strawberries from Alabama reach northern markets before those from the states in the southeast. Cattle can be raised with great profit, there being millions of acres of cheap range lands. If your are interested in the south and its resources and desire information on any subject, address the members of the legislature Minutes of the Assessers Meeting March and the rank and file of the party have no patience with the many time-dishonored schemes to ignore the statutes and raid the treasury. This has again been useless and illegal employes, called to order by the Clerk. The prompt action of the state auditor when the matter was called to his attention led to an immediate discharge of some of ed to their names at roll call. those who had been secretly added to the pay roll, and there is some amusement in the Honse over the efforts of the responsible parties to "explain."
